The DIMMER VIEW

The IRS Connection

Each year as income tax season nears there comes by mail a communication from the Government telling about someone who has run afoul of the Internal Revenue Service.

It is effective, we suppose, because it scares the daylight out of this writer. It begs the question regarding anyman's tax returns.

If IRS can catch those guys who have such a sophisticated knowledge of ways to bilk Uncle Sam, what chance does any person have who can't even understand what the tax form demands much less figure out a way to beat it.

There's the honest mistake, of course. But try to make anyone believe that.

A story relative to the tax collecting has to do with the three greatest lies being told these days. One: "I'll love you forever." The next, "The check is in the mail," and finally, the man who says, "I'm from the IRS and I'm here to help you."

This year's communication on tax matters is from the U.S. Attorney in L.A.

They caught a guy who defrauded the IRS of more than $89,000 when they arrested Carl J. Rogers of Culver City a few days back.

They lodged 25 complaints against Carl charging that he filed 96 false reports for tax refunds at 8 or more of the 10 IRS processing centers throughout the U.S.

A review of the 25 of the 96 false tax returns showed addresses covering 19 states from California to Maine.

There is, we suppose, something to admire in any man who associates himself with a big and important undertaking. It's the Walter Mitty in us. Carl will get a big and important penalty, too, you can bet.

The 48-year old Rogers, an unemployed computer programmer, was arrested by Special Agents of the Intelligence Division of the IRS on felony charges of making false claims against the Government.

If found guilty, Rogers could receive a maximum of 5 years in prison and a $10,000 fine for each false return filed. Let's see, 5 years times 96 is 480. $10,000 times 96 is $960,000—a bit shy of a million. But looking at it another way, it's considerably less than the Government appropriated a couple of years ago to investigate the mating habits of butterflies.

What of Carl did was to file these 96 false claims for income tax refunds. His mistake was that he didn't pay the tax in the first instance. But he had class, to some degree because he filed his claims from some pretty nice towns and was probably living higher than some welfare cheaters who have been living on the dole for as many as three generations. Carl just cheated the wrong government department although it is obvious he'll never serve out his term if it's 480 years.

Anyhow, his caper was uncovered by the Refund Scheme Detection Team at the Atlanta IRS Center through sophisticated investigative techniques, so the report said. And Carl was in the slammer within two weeks of the time the returns were discovered in Atlanta. That's faster than you get your tax refund!

Readers certainly would be interested in Carl's itinerary, so we'll print it.

From these 24 cities and towns came 25 complaints. L.A., Fresno, San Diego, Cedar Rapids, Council Bluffs, Peoria, and Columbia, Missouri.

Savannah and Athens, Georgia; Camden and Crossett, Arkansas, and Montgomery, Alabama.

Lansing, Warren, and Manchester, New Haven and Hartford, Connecticut.

Bar Harbor, Maine; Minot, N. Dakota; Rocksprings, Wyoming, and Greeley, Colorado.

Evansville, Lexington, and Phoenix.

And all of the complaints aren't in yet.

The Child Molest Problem

Child molestation has become so prevalent that a sick cartoonist felt it relevant to draw a cartoon of a mother talking to her little daughter. It was published in one of the off-beat magazines.

"Don't take candy from a stranger," admonished the mother, "unless he offers to drive you home."

Not all cartoons are done to create laughter. Often they are the pen and ink artists telling of our life and times.

The cartoon comes to mind with a communications from San Diego's Hillcrest Receiving Home.

Doctors see more battered children than the public realizes. Usually a report is made but it is difficult for police to make a charge stick. The explanation can be an accident or playmates.

The home is at 4307 3rd ave., in San Diego and the reception will be 1:30-4 p.m. with Hillcrest children serving the refreshments. A tour of the buildings, grounds and schools will be part of the ceremony.

Hillcrest, as many know, is the temporary home for children who have done nothing wrong but who have problems. They are mostly victims of circumstances. Many are placed in Hillcrest because they have been mistreated by their parents. Others are housed there until child custody cases are settled in courts or because their parents have been killed in an accident.

The causes are numerous and most cases are tales of sad and unfortunate situations which have the potential for reducing a compassionate adult to tears.

According to Asst. Superintendent Burton Johnson 2,000 to 2,400 children from ages of 3 days to 17 years pass through Hillcrest each year.

"We act as surrogate parents here at Hillcrest until the children can be placed with relatives, in a foster home, special school or returned to their parents," said Johnson.

He noted that Hillcrest is the only facility of its type in San Diego County that accepts children on a 24-hour basis, 365 days a year.

"Just about one million dollars are spent each year to operate Hillcrest. The idea of the open house is to show the taxpayers how their money is put to good use," said Johnson.

"The other purpose of holding the open house is the recruit for our volunteer program," he added.

"We need volunteers to fulfill the individual needs of the often confused and troubled children who are brought here," he said.

The open house will be held from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Hillcrest Receiving Home is located at 4307 Third ave., in San Diego. Tours of the buildings, grounds and school will be held by Hillcrest staff. Refreshments will be served by the children housed at Hillcrest.

MISS SPRING VALLEY — Seventeen year old Cindi Wright, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright, became the first finalist in the 32 Annual Fairest of the Fair beauty contest by being crowned Miss Spring Valley last Wednesday night March 18.

Miss Wright is a senior at Monte Vista High School and aspires to become a pharmacist.

First runner-up was Cathy Herrick and second place honors went to Donna Hunt, both seniors at Monte Vista.

Miss Wright received a $100 scholarship from the Spring Valley Rotary Club plus $750 in merchandise prizes.

Chamber to Install Officers Saturday

Everybody's favorite mayor of the City of San Diego, Frank E. Curran, has dug out a list of old jokes and some up-to-date information for his appearance Saturday at the annual installation banquet of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce.

Curran preceded Pete Wilson as San Diego's mayor and is now executive director of the Downtown Association and under him several innovative programs have been initiated.

He will discuss these and other matters relating to cityhood at the Saturday dinner which is to be held at the Meeting Hall of St. John of the Cross Church at Broadway and Imperial.

Cocktail hour starts at 6:30 with Junior Gantz, a comedic pianist entertaining.

A new board of directors will be installed which has already been elected but the results will not be known until today at noon when the ballots will be counted.

'Sad but Necessary'

Valley Bird Collector Loses to Newcastle Woes

It was some two weeks ago Spring Valley bird entrepreneur Russell Granor went out to his aviary of some 158 exotic finches, parrots, and love birds to find two dead and several others dying.

"At first I thought they might have gotten into some poison," said Granor, who operates his private aviary as a hobby at 9038 Jamacha road in Spring Valley. "But they began to die very fast and I got suspicious so I called the health officials."

Later that night officials arrived for samples to check for Newcastle disease. Three days later, they returned for more samples and last week notified Granor his birds were infected with Newcastle.

Granor, as a hobby, had some 158 exotic birds he maintained including some eight chickens he and his wife used for fresh eggs. Most of the birds in the aviary were house pets.

The new council will then elect its executive members. If normal procedures are followed, the vice president will be named to the presidency. The new president should be Dr. Griff Clark, a Lemon Grove veterinarian. A vice president, treasurer, and secretary will also be selected by the board.

New board members according to an unofficial poll, are Carl Lacki, Dave Harvey, Bob Holaday, Dr. Griff Clark, Dr. Peter Shea, Jim Boyd and Dell Lake.

Curran will install new officers. Between dinner and the program the Mt. Miguel Girls Ensemble will entertain.

A roast beef dinner is $6 a person and is catered by Jansen's.

Reservations are still being accepted at the Chamber office 469-9621 and the affair is public.

The schedule: Cocktails, 6:30; Dinner, 7:30; program, 8:30.

New Board Members Sworn In April 5

The Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees have set aside April 5 as the date for a special organizational meeting to install new board members Spisak, Chubb, and Morgan.

In ceremonies said to last about 15 minutes, David Spisak, Carol Chubb, and Victoria Morgan will be sworn in to their seats on the Board of trustees.

The members will then retire to executive session to consider employee contract matters.

Tough Septic Tank Law Eyed by Sups

The County Board of Supervisors will conduct a public hearing Tuesday at 2 p.m., to consider a proposal to limit installation of private subsurface disposal systems and to require 100 per cent percolation testing of subdivisions where waste disposal will be accomplished by septic systems.

The proposal would establish a one acre minimum lot size for the installation of septic systems for all future major and minor subdivisions. Existing parcels of less than one acre would be allowed to install private subsurface disposal systems if they meet the existing criteria established by the County Department of Public Health.

The proposal would also increase the minimum number of percolation tests required for subdivisions from 40 per cent to 100 per cent.

County staff is recommending that the installation of subsurface disposal systems continue to be based on technical criteria (e.g. percolation, groundwater level, soil and geological characteristics and topography). The staff report also recommends modification of the grading permit process and the inclusion of a percolation testing plan to the State Department of Real Estate Report. It is believed that these recommendations would reduce the occurrence of certain modes of septic tank failure and provide prospective buyers with specific information concerning the percolation testing on individual lots.

Carnival Ride Tickets Ready

Old Time Days Carnival pre-sale tickets are now available in Lemon Grove at 6 locations, it was announced this week by Leonard Klein, chairman of the OTD project.

Books, with five tickets in each, are now available at these locations:

Broadway Hardware, Food Factory, Dell Enterprises, Marders Stationery, J&D Cyclery and the L.G. Chamber of Commerce office.

The carnival will be April 7 through 10 at the L.G. Junior school grounds.

Advance tickets in books are 20 cents but are good for 30 and 45 cent rides. Two tickets will be required for the 60 cent rides.

There will be special booklets for school youngsters with a drawing coupon for a bike, Klein said.

A square dance to be held at the L.G. Junior High Auditorium has been added to the OTD program, Klein said. Ron East, veteran caller, will be in charge of that project, he said.

March 17 Storm Total .28 Inch

A storm that ranged from extremely heavy in some parts of the east county to mild in the north part was registered on Thursday, March 17.

In the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area the official rain gauges showed a total of .28 inches for that date.

It brought the season total to 8.17. On the same date last year the total was 8.19.

'Meet Your Council' Program is Friday

The five newly elected Lemon Grove city councilmen are scheduled to take part in a public question-answer luncheon Friday at Skandia Smorgasbord at Broadway and Kempf sts. in Lemon Grove, according to Bob Guest, Chamber of Commerce president.

Councilmen will update guests regarding matters that have occurred since the election on March 8—and there have been many, according to Jim Dorman, leading vote-getter.

Guest said he would introduce the council and the rest of the program would be theirs.

Dorman said that rumors may need correcting such as increased taxes, a new building for City Hall, and the installation of sidewalks and curbs—and money matters.

We'll be busy getting the new city into smooth operation, taking over certain functions that formerly were handled by the County Board of Supervisors," he said.

The council may not take any official action until it meets as a body on July 1.

Luncheon is $3. The CoC reservation number is 469-9621.

Supervisor Moore is Speaker At March 31 Meet of S.V. CoC

Lucille Moore, Supervisor, will be the guest for the quarterly general meeting of the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce to be held March 31, at the Ox Bow Inn, 9816 Capo Road in Casa de Oro.

Cocktails will be at 6:30 with dinner at 7.

The business meeting is scheduled for 8.

Mrs. Moore has been invited to update local interested citizens and Chamber members on the current proceedings of the Board of Supervisors.

She will answer questions raised by the area home owners who have protested the latest requirements to existing swimming pools, and to the Concerned Citizens' Group about the commercial development of previously designated park area near Spring Valley Reservoir. Topics will be welcome from the attending citizens.

Reservations for the dinner meeting must be made through the chamber office, 466-5736, with Morrie Peterson, Chamber president.

It will be Mrs. Moore's first return visit to the Chamber since her election in 1976, Peterson said.

Valle de Oro Committee Will Fight County On Proposed Zoning Changes

The Valle de Oro Citizens' Executive Committee will fight proposed zoning changes made by the County Integrated Planning Office to the Valle de Oro Community Plan.

The Committee met last night at Monte Vista High School to plan their strategy.

At issue with the Committee is three county proposed changes to the Community Plan which would 1) rezone the area around Monte Mar and Helix streets from A-41 semi-agricultural to residential, 2) allow light industry to expand but slap a curb on the expansion of heavy industry in the entire Spring Valley area, and 3) disallow any commercial development on Dictionary Hill.

Around Montemar and Helix sts., there has been strong citizen's reaction to the zoning changes.

Chairman Dave Herring, of the Executive Committee, said the area is dotted with poultry, goats, and other animals. The citizens want to keep it that way but the County has other plans.

"The County wants to re-

There's An Answer

By Mr. and Mrs.
Norman Vicent Peale

Lonely and old at age 20
J. I feel very lonely and old at 20! I have made so many mistakes in my life. I have no useful skills or talents to offer people.

I worked after high school and now am attending night classes at college. Many of my friends have secretarial positions or jobs through various two-year programs. They are engaged or married.

I'm so confused about why I'm going to school. I want to better myself, but I don't know what area to concentrate on. I have a secure home with my warm wonderful family and I have friends. Can you help me sort things out?

A. You do not need to go through any complex process of sorting things out. You need simply to change your thought pattern from that of a sickish negativism to healthy positivism.

Stop running yourself down. Never build a case against yourself. Start practicing self esteem. Begin to affirm your good qualities and what you can be.

It is not unusual at age 20 to be unsure of what one wants out of life. We suggest you keep on with your college courses and your job. Talk to people in various occupations about what they do. Explore hobbies as well as jobs to discover your interests and abilities. Discovery of self and the world is exciting!

We have a booklet, the "Self-Improvement Handbook," which has helped others with questions such as yours, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone reading this column who wishes a free copy may write for one. Address your request to Dr. and Mrs. Peale, Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

16-year-old son has lost his way

Q. My 16-year-old son has lost his way. He will not go to school, will not work, stays out late at night. He is on the wrong path, seems determined to destroy himself.

I've tried everything with him, and I pray for a miracle. Can you give me any advice?

A. One thing that suggests itself is that your love must also be tough. Kindly but firmly let your son know that his time of dependency is drawing to an end.

In the meantime try to get to some of the causes of his problem. Check for any possible physical problems. Find out who his friends are and get to know them. Talk to former teachers and others who may know how all this started. For lack of encouragement some young people are convinced of their "dumbness" and then run away from anything that might "show them up."

Look into yourself as well. Are you locked into a pattern of disapproval? Emphasize your son's positive qualities. He surely has some. Believe in him. Make a careful, objective study of him to find out his chief interest. Then take what steps possible to get him involved in that interest. Final, image him in your mind as an alive, well-focused personality. Such imaging often becomes factual.

At her wit's end with ego-maniac husband

Q. I am truly at my wit's end!

We celebrated our 32nd wedding anniversary last summer, and I've reached the point where I want freedom from human bondage. Maybe you can tell me how a man can be so insecure that he has to be the center of attention exactly like a child.

The more I give the more he takes. He's domineering and possessive. He either won't admit to weaknesses and genuinely believes he doesn't have any.

What do I do with an ego-maniac like this? Is there such a thing as a man's inability to feel and show his wife real tender love? Do I deserve a break after these many years? I'm sick of it all and want to do the right thing. Please give me some of your fine wisdom.

A. As a suggestion, sit down with a large sheet of paper and a pencil. Write down every good thing you can think about your husband. Go back over the years and add them up.

We think you will be surprised at how many there are. It seems as though you have built him up as a monster. Start treating him, not as a monster, but as a human being who has some needs. Else he would not act as he does.

Perhaps you would like to find an answer for yourself to a problem that you can share with others in THERE'S AN ANSWER! If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 550, Pawling, NY 12564.

MD Teams at Work In Local Areas

More than 200 East San Diego County youngsters are trooping through their neighborhoods this week in the annual doorbell brigade to raise funds for the fight against Muscular Dystrophy.

Bells began ringing Monday when volunteers were issued numbered canisters and special identification tags. The drive continues through 4 p.m. on Saturday, when all canisters are returned to local 7-Eleven stores for tallying.

Similar brigades will be walking throughout the nation as part of a major effort to raise funds for fighting Muscular Dystrophy. The local doorbell brigade is sponsored by 7-Eleven stores, radio station B-100, and Muscular Dystrophy.

Those participating will be given coupons for free slurpee drinks at 7-Eleven and also be eligible for a drawing of prizes, including bicycles, Disneyland tickets and having a radio show broadcast from their home by Shotgun Tom Kelly.

Following introduction of the measure Wilson said, "My bill would increase the California Cigarette Tax by 3 cents per pack. This will raise an estimated $90 million a year in additional state revenues."

Wilson said, "It is my intention that two-thirds of this money, or $60 million a year, to be used to completely abolish property taxes for Senior Citizens, over 62, with yearly incomes of $7,500 or less. In addition, Senior Citizens with yearly incomes up to $12,000 would pay reduced property taxes computed on a sliding scale.

Wilson concluded by saying, "The other third, or $30 million a year would be used to fund research into the causes and cures of lung cancer and heart disease."

Wilson added, "My bill calls for a three cent increase in the cigarette tax. This would cost the average smoker less than one dollar a month, but would raise more than $90 million each year in additional state revenues."

This one dollar a month is like a life insurance premium. The money could help save your life or the life of someone you love by helping to find a cure for lung cancer and heart disease."

Frost Free Fridge May Cause Lung Ills

Frost free refrigerators not only cost watts but according to the San Diego Lung Association may cause lung disease.

The drip pans on frost free refrigerators are the breeding ground for millions of spore-bearing microorganisms thought to cause lung irritations known as "kitchen lung".

The microorganisms are so minute, the Lung Assn. contends they slip through the natural defenses of the lungs. The first symptoms of the distress i chills, fever, cough and shortness of breath.

The effects are temporary, usually subside in ten days, but the lung assn. said damage to lungs may develop.

Presumably, periodic sterilization of the drip pans in the refrigerator could control this situation.

Hoop and Hockey Get HoC Awards

Basketball and ice hockey provided San Diego's outstanding sports performers during February, with the results that two from each activity have been accorded Star of the Month recognition by the Hall of Champions Breitbard Awards Committee.

Mitchell Lilly, Madison High's record-breaking scorer, and Joel Kramer, who led San Diego State to a share of the PCAA title and was voted his team's most valuable player, topped the amateur selections, while a pair of San Diego Mariner pucksters, Andre Lacroix and Norm Ferguson, got the nod among professional candidates.

Lilly, who maintains a 3.6 grade point average at Madison, rolled up 893 points in 28 games for a 31.9 average, highest in California, and his 61-point effort against San Diego High enabled him to break the county mark set by St. Augustine's Tom Shaules many years ago.

A hometown product of Patrick Henry High, Kramer took up the slack for State when Several of its key players were hurt, led the PCAA in rebounds with 128 and capped his season by being named the Aztec's most valuable man.

Both Lacroix and Ferguson had big months for the Mariners in February. Lacroix, already a two-time winner of Star of the Month honors, scored in each of 13 matches, winding up with eight goals and 16 assists and lifting his seasonal point total to 79. Right Winger Ferguson, displaying his usual consistency, produced six goals, including a game winner and another which saved a tie against Phoenix in overtime.

Added Power May Lift Padres

If the chart on the San Diego Padres home run output was ever compared to the yearly happenings on Wall Street, the unanimous decision would be that the club was in the midst of a depression akin to the great crash in the 1920's.

Last season the Padres crashed only 64 home runs, one of the lowest figures in the National League since the end of World War II and easily the lowest figure in the eight-year history of the franchise.

Looking back, the club has been on a steady decline since 1973. That was the year the Padres combined for a team total of 112 round-trippers, only to see the output drop to 99 in 1974, then to 78 in 1975 and finally all the way down to 64 a year ago. To say the least, the fall has been drastic when compared to the 1970 team effort when 172 home runs were belted, the third highest figure in the National League that year.

Well, all of this may be changed. Strike that. All of this will be changed in 1977 unless the bottom really falls out of the home run market.

Potential Runs

"It sure is nice to see some potential big bats in the lineup," mused fourth-year manager John McNamara as he watched rocket, after rocket streak out of the Padres train-

Yosemite Bike Rally Open to All Riders

Cyclists will begin the 14-mile loop around the Valley after registering at the Curry Village Bike Stand on Saturday and Sunday mornings. Entrants will receive a Yosemite Spring Bike Rally patch and a certificate.

Westchester, will be in another Henry car.

Jim Castle of La Mesa has a new ride that is battle tested for 77.00 seconds (1 lap) and a full field of Don Edmonds Sprints will be on hand. A pack of 61 cars made the show in the Imperial Valley. Clark Templeman set a new track record at El Centro erasing Don Hamilton of El Cajon's mark for the track set in 1972.

ing facility in Yuma. "It may only be early spring, but I have a feeling this is the way these guys are going to hit when it all begins next month."

For those who are not certain just exactly who "these guys" are, let's simply explain by saying McNamara was referring to new catcher-first baseman Gene Tenace and equally new outfielder George Hendrick. Together they are being counted on to form the club's best one-two home run punch since the hacyon days of 1970.

"I know as well as anyone that this is just spring training and the pitching isn't exactly the same," reflected McNamara, "but some of those balls that Tenace and Hendrick are hitting would be long gone at any time in any park."

Break-Loose Firepower

"There's no doubt in my mind," continued the Padres boss, "that they are going to bring a whole new dimension to our ball club. Now, not only do we possess a constant home run threat, but more than ever we've got the firepower to really break loose and put together some big innings."

"With bats like these, I don't think we'll ever be out of too many games," McNamara summed up. "Some people question whether or not they can make the adjustment to the National League, but as far as I'm concerned they are good enough to hit in anyone's league although obviously there will be a bit of a 'get-acquainted' period."

For the stat lovers, the two have combined for some rather impressive marks over the past four campaigns. Together, they have been averaging close to 50 home runs and 160 runs batted in. Simple math translates this into almost an extra run per game and when one considers the fact the Padres lost 29 contests by just one run last season it sets the mind to wondering.

In Retrospect

In fact, taking this whole idea one step further, if the Padres had won just half of those one-run losses, the club would have finished with an 88-74 record and would have been right behind the Los Angeles Dodgers in third place in the tough National League West.

"It certainly is something to think about," said McNamara. "That's what I mean by never being out of a ball game. Not only may we be able to gain the upper hand in those close games, but now we are the ones with the ability to hold the advantage and come up with the key hits at the right time."

"Don't ever forget, either," stated McNamara, "that you also have to think back to those games lost by more than one run that could have been swung in your favor with a timely hit or two."

Andy Bean is 31st Qualifier At La Costa MONY Tournament

RANCHO LA COSTA — For the second straight year, 11 rookies, which ties the record, have qualified for the $225,000 MONY Tournament of Champions announced tournament chairman Allard Roen.

Trout More Popular Than Girls—DFG Says

"In spring a young man's fancy," wrote the poet, "lightly turns to thoughts of . . ." Would you believe trout fishing?

This is the year for it, says the Department of Fish and Game, because trout cooking will come earlier what with little runoff and warmer temperatures. This should make trout fishing much better than usual this spring in many northern and central California waters.

The arrangement not only will make more trout available earlier for many anglers, but it will reduce the number of trout in some hatcheries where water quality could be a problem later in the year.

Stocking will begin immediately — and at rates heavier than normal — in lakes and reservoirs where there is sufficient water, and will continue as long as conditions permit. Most California lakes and reservoirs are open for angling all year.

DFG noted that some trout lakes will be suitable for fishing through the summer months, while others will be too low and warm to sustain planted trout later in the year.

At the same time, DFG revealed that reports from the field will be issued regularly to keep anglers informed about which lakes are involved in the accelerated stocking program as well as specifying the relatively small number which cannot be planted because of low water conditions.

The Snow Melt

Normally, spring snow melt results in northern and central California stream flows that are too high and too cold for good angling, and DFG waits until streams recede before stocking catchable-sized trout in large numbers.

But this year things will be different because of expected low stream flows in May and June, when DFG says, angling should be highly satisfactory.

Therefore, trout plants in streams will begin just before the April 30 opener and continue regularly until flows become too low and warm for trout survival.

Looking well ahead, DFG expects that smaller streams may become unsuitable for stocking after the first week of July.

Most trout scheduled for stream stocking in late July, August and September will now be planted in late April, May, June and early July.

Goolagong Eyes WTT Friars Pact

The Friars are negotiating with Evonne Goolagong, the world's second-ranked woman player, to join the San Diego entry in World Team Tennis.

The team made Goolagong its top selection in the league's supplemental draft for players who are presently unsigned. Goolagong played with Pittsburgh the last three seasons and is expecting a child this April.

"She has expressed interest in playing the second half of the WTT season, probably around July," said Allan Kingston, Friars' general manager. "We certainly would welcome her then."

"When an opportunity to have a player of Goolagong's stature come along, we would be foolish not to take it," he said. "Our early negotiations indicate a genuine interest on her part to join the San Diego team."

The Friars also drafted three local players among their eight selections. La Jolla's Chico and Susie Hagey and San Diego's Brian Teach-er were selected. Other players drafted were Linky Bosh-off, Peter Fleming, Bernie Mit-ton and Rayni Fox.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

'Tis a noble truth that in spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of what's going on between second and short, the fleetness of foot in the outfield and strength on the mound.

And so it has come to pass, in the Teepee of the San Diego Padres, the promise of quickness up the middle, power at the corners and behind the plate, raw speed and rifle arms in the outfield and both depth and quality on the mound brings on an early pennant fever to the faithful.

However, in spring many pennants are claimed but in September only one is taken.

The best view yet for the Padres, is this year they have a legitimate run at September fun.

On offense they have big bats and outstanding speed. Padre folk high up in the batting order have ability to get on base more and those who follow have thunder in their ash.

Jerry Turner or Gene Richards could lead off and both have the speed to blow out a candle and beat the dark into bed.

Bill Almon, with equal foot, shows the kind of bat control that could have him spend most of the year batting second.

Dave Winfield has both speed and power and could be a natural hitting third. Big George Hendrick has the experience, power and temperament to bat clean up and he also moves with great dispatch.

And when the above gentlemen secure base running privileges, which should come quick, fast and often, Gene Tenace, Mike Ivie and Doug Rader have the power to bring them home.

Mike Champion could become the best 8th place hitter in the National League his rookie year, forcing enemy hurlers to "pitch around" him. He also has the speed to raise dust on a wet sidewalk and gives cause to upset stomach aches of enemy managers when Padre pitchers move infielders with their bunt attack.

And then the whole thing starts all over again. For the home folks, it's a wonderment.

Speed and youth. Talent and power. There's no substitute for it.

And you start your mound corps with the current Cy Young award winner and add outstanding relief pitching to an already strong-stopping corps, you've got something going.

Randy Jones set most Padre pitching records last year, winning 22 and losing 14. But most of the runner-up marks were logged by starter number two, Brent Strom. Dave Freisleben shows streaks of brilliance and, with a year's experience under his belt, figures to settle down in a real winning grove.

There's a battle royal for the fourth and fifth starting spots with such hard throwers as Tom Griffin, Dan Spillner, Rick Sawyer, Clay Kirby, Dave Wehrmeister, rookie Bob Shirley and Alan Foster hustling for employment.

Rollie Fingers, the most outstanding relief pitcher in the American League the last half dozen years, joins Rookie-of-the-Year Butch Metzger and Dave Tomlin in, what baseball insiders claim to be, the best bunch of stoppers in either league.

It all starts early next month when the Padres host the club that made millionaires out of its players by letting them flee to other clubs.

The Oakland "A's" visit for a 7 p.m. Saturday night exhibition on April 2nd and a afternoon affair the following day beginning at 1 p.m.

The Padres open their regular season on the road against the World Champion Cincinnati Reds in the National League opener and make their home debut against San Francisco on April 12.

Here we are playing baseball while Buffalo still shovels snow. Ain't you glad you live in San Diego?

Cockroaches Need Not Be Uninvited House Guests

Homeowner enemy number one is back again. It's not taxes but that pesky critter, the cockroach.

Two booklets are being offered on how to control these pests who have successfully inhabited this earth for nearly two hundred million years.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is offering a booklet entitled "Controlling Household Pests" for 45 cents through the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 75E, Pueblo, Colorado, 81009.

The booklet explains the use of pesticides such as diazinon, malathion, propoxur, or ronnel and how to apply them properly.

The second booklet is through the Pest Control Operators of California.

According to Dave Dierolf, San Diego District Chairman of the PCO, the most common roach at this time of year is the German cockroach, sometimes called the Croton bug.

Adults, explain Dierolf, are pale brown, about one-half to three quarters of an inch long with wings covering the entire length of the body.

The pest control operators suggest the following steps to control these beasts:

—keep garbage and rubbish containers covered with tight fitting lids and empty frequently.

—eliminate leaking pipes, standing water and other areas where moisture accumulates.

—inspect incoming food stuffs, particularly bags of vegetables; cockroaches like to ride in from the supermarket on bags of potatoes and grocery sacks.

—check soda pop and beer cartons: these are another often traveled roach freeway.

—eliminate accumulation of bottles, boxes, stacked newspapers, and other clutter.

—and follow basic rules of sanitation, particular removing food scraps and grease.

The Pest Control Operators offer a free booklet "Consumers Guide to Household Pests" which may be obtained by writing The Pest Control Operators of California, Inc., 3444 W. First st., Los Angeles, 90004.

Described As Illusive Enemy

Guard General Declares War on Troop Disarming Paperwork

SACRAMENTO—The Commanding General of the California National Guard who last year declared war on fat has now declared war on paper.

Major General Frank J. Schober, Jr., has taken on what he calls a more elusive enemy, the tons of paper work threatening to disarm his 200 Guard units throughout California.

"It makes one really marvel at the exploits of Alexander the Great," said Schober, "Imagine, he conquered half the world and did it without a single typewriter, a piece of carbon paper or even a Xerox! The man must have really been a genius."

The General asked his staff to come up with a report on just how much paper work is involved in running the National Guard.

"They wanted to have a six-man team spend a couple of months preparing a 12-page study," the General added, "I settled for a week's study and one page."

Schober said his concern was really aroused when he tried to find out how many reports, federal and state, his headquarters were required to submit.

"Nobody could tell me. Apparently the calculators don't go that high," the General fumed.

One example the General did find was the Guard's "domestic status report". The document has been issued annually for many years and forwarded by Guard units in Sacramento.

"As nearly as I can find out," he said, "this beauty has been received and duly filed since time immemorial. I can't tell what's in it because I haven't been able to find anyone who's read one."

Schober reiterated he hoped his new war did not alienate government paper contractors.

"I hope this campaign doesn't alienate the paper industry for I am aware that government agencies, including the military, must be a principal source of comfort to their stockholders."

"But it takes so much time to do the research for reports, to write them and then for somebody to read them, that I want to cut to the bone. The same goes for all paper work, including forms."

"For example," the General continued, "to enlist a person in the Guard take a piece of paper 36 feet long in six copies. Georgia-Pacific must really love us."

"I can't wait to pin the first 'slay the paper dragon award' on the first Guardsman to win it," the General concluded. "I regard it as a kind of 'Purple Heart' in reverse sparing us from the deadly psychological wounds of the paper peril, a home-front Silver Star, if you will."

1,000 New Jobs Rest On Fed's RETC Approval

More than 1,000 new jobs will be opened May 1, by the County of San Diego if the County's bid for almost $6 million in new Regional Employment Training Consortium (RETC) money is approved.

The County submitted applications March 11 for almost half of the total federal funds earmarked for local distribution by RETC.

The County Board of Supervisors authorized the application for 70 proposed new projects in their regular board meeting March 9.

The positions, actually 1,012, were created with the Title VI federal money and will be funded for a maximum of one year.

Suggested County projects range from renovation of park facilities, social service programs, and installation of solar heating equipment, to a countywide water conservation education program.

Under the new RETC program, the federal money must go to projects which will be completed by March 31, 1978. Job slots will be open only to people who have been unemployed for more than 15 weeks and to people who are currently receiving some type of public assistance.

The county is competing with an estimated 1,800 other agencies for the $12 to $14 million allocated to the San Diego area.

Garvey Named Chief Of County Probation

Michael D. Garvey, 42, has been named Chief Probation Officer for the County of San Diego. The appointment was announced by Board of Supervisors Vice-chairwoman Ludille V. Moore.

Garvey was appointed by the Board of Supervisors and the appointment was confirmed by the judges of the San Diego County Superior Court.

The salary range for the position is between $29,316 and $35,640 annually.

Garvey has served as acting chief probation officer since April of 1976. Prior to being appointed to that position he was assistant chief probation officer for the County.

He has also worked as director of County juvenile services, as coordinator of the Youth Service Bureau program, superintendent of Juvenile Hall, as a supervisor at Rancho del Campo and as a deputy probation officer. He first came to work for the County in 1962. Prior to that he worked for the Maricopa County Probation Department in Arizona.

Garvey is a native of Fresno, California, and attended Arizona State College where he received his B.A. degree in psychology. He did graduate work in criminology, public administration, and sociology at Arizona State College and S.D. State U.

Garvey is a member of the California Probation, Parole, and Correctional Association; the National Council on Crime and Delinquency; the Southern California Detention Administrators; and the Chief Probation Officers Association.

Garvey lives in Spring Valley.

'Secret' Weapon Used

The burglar had a "quick entry" tool. A rock. He threw it through the window at the residence of Jesse Clements while he was away from home Thursday.

After opening the widow by means of the hole made by the rock, the thief took meat from the freezer — $50; a suitcase valued at $150, and various pieces of jewelry valued at $500. The loot was presumably carried away in the suitcase.

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C.M. Douglas

Last week's question dealt with the traffic around Imperial and Golden avenue around the First National Bank.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It may save you a citation — or even your life. Write care of this newspaper. You don't have to sign the letter. Please allow about three weeks for the reply to appear.

This Week's Question:

I live on Massachusetts avenue in Lemon Grove in the 2600 block.

There is a double yellow line down the center on the roadway. It is against the law to cross over a double yellow, so I drive around the block.

When I go to the store, which is almost every day, it takes twice as much gas to make the four block trip.

If there was a break in the yellow line in front of my house, I could save gas. On some Lemon Grove streets it is alright to cross in the middle of the block. Why can't we do it on Massachusetts?

Reply:

You may cross the double yellow lines if you are entering or leaving a driveway or place of business. As long as you pull directly across the roadway to enter or exit a driveway, there is no violation.

Bates Takes Five Day Rapid Transit Tour

S.D. County Board of Supervisors Chairman Jim Bates represented the Board on a tour of mass transit systems in Canada and the U.S.

The tour was being sponsored by the San Diego Metropolitan Transit Development Board (MTDB).

Bates serves as vice chairman of the MTDB. The Board was created by State Senate Bill 101 to study the feasibility of developing a mass transit system in the San Diego area.

The TTDB area of study includes the cities of San Diego, Chula Vista, National City, El Cajon, La Mesa and Imperial Beach. The MTDB tour will study the mass transit systems of several cities in the U.S. and Canada.

zone it down to A-1," said Herring. "This means no more poultry farms."

"Sitting in the abstract downtown," Herring continued, "looking at the map, it doesn't make any sense to have farms with residences. But we have a very strong citizen's request to reject the County's plans."

Light versus Heavy Industry

Herring said the County has come up with a new zoning matrix which would essentially kill any expansion of heavy industry in the Spring Valley area.

"We have in Spring Valley the U.S. Elevator Company," said Herring. "The county will allow them to stay but they cannot expand. Why would any business stay if they are not allowed to grow? We disagree with the County."

If the county's proposals are accepted, a potentially strong tax base for the Spring Valley area would be killed, Herring said.

Dictionary Hill

Herring said the third change proposed by the county was to make Dictionary Hill totally residential. The Citizens Committee wants to zone it commercially so that a restaurant could be built at the top of the hill.

Since the commercial real estate tax rate is higher than that of residential, another potential revenue source for the area would be thwarted.

Horse Show Prizes $56,000 at Fair

Approximately $56,000 in premiums will be offered in the Southern Cal. Exposition's National Horse Show at Del Mar, June 19 through July 4.

The horse show is a major feature of the 88th annual Exposition which runs June 21 through July 4.

To accommodate the large number of entries in the junior show, competition gets underway two days before the opening of the Expo. Open competition starts June 25.

Alan F. Balch, 31, will be serving as horse show manager for the seventh year. His first association with Del Mar came in 1960 when he was a junior show competition. He rode for three years and in 1964 he was given the job of paddock master by the late Eric W. L. Atterbury, then horse show manager.

Balch's full-time endeavor is vice president in charge of marketing and assistant general manager at Santa Anita Race Track at Arcadia.

Entries are due in the horse show office not later than May 16. A premium book can be obtained by writing to Horse Show Secretary "Corky" Nelsen, Exposition grounds, Del Mar, CA 92014.

County Building Handicapped Use Is Aim of Study

The Board of Supervisors voted unanimously to move ahead with a project designed to remove existing architectural barriers to the handicapped in various County-owned and leased buildings.

The $50,000 for the architectural project are Federal dollars from a community development block grant.

The Board OK'd the architectural firm of Macy, Henderson and Cole to conduct a survey of various County buildings to determine the scope of planned future construction remodeling.

The project will concentrate on existing County-owned and leased buildings that are primarily for public use and are used particularly by the handicapped and the elderly.

This project is a continuation of past Board actions which provided funds for parking spaces reserved for the handicapped, curb ramps, entry ramps and handrails to provide access to County buildings.

With the $50,000, County staff anticipates doing more extensive remodeling inside the buildings, such as widening of doors and toilet stalls, providing grab bars and handrails, and adjusting mirrors, toilet fixtures and drinking fountains.

A report will be presented to the Board later this year recommending specific remodeling projects in specific County facilities.

With a unanimous vote Supervisors also introduced an ordinance establishing the San Diego County Committee on the Handicapped, insuring continuation of its function as a forum for the handicapped community.

The committee will operate under the newly created Equal Opportunity Management Office.

Parachute, Bulldozer Accidents Temporarily Delay Local Man

A parachute mishap in Germany didn't stop him. Neither was he stopped after being run over by a bulldozer for which corrective back surgery was required.

Dave Diaz, a longtime resident of Lemon Grove, (since 1944) is not only recovering from his latest setback, but is using the time he needs to recuperate from the back operation to pursue a degree in business management at National University.

His back injury came in 1972 while he was a layout man for a grading contractor. The bulldozer driver didn't see him as he was setting grade stakes and he was buried beneath tons of dirt. A spinal fusion followed and he was left 40 per cent disabled.

The parachute injury came when his group was dropped in the landing zone during a high wind. He suffered back and head injuries there.

Diaz attended Elementary and Junior High schools in Lemon Grove and Grossmont College. His teenage daughter, Cherie Lynn Diaz lives at 7019 Mt. Vernon st., Lemon Grove.

Before joining the Army which eventually led him to Augsburg, Germany with the 11th Airborne Division, he was a volunteer career counselor and placement worker for economically and culturally disadvantaged individuals. His work earned him a commendation from the S.D. Affirmative Action organization.

In 1973 he became program director and field specialist of the Highway Construction

Supportive Services Apprenticeship Training Program under the auspices of the Mexican-American Opportunity Foundation.

He organized the advisory board for the HCSSAP which included representatives of Mayor Pete Wilson's office; Assemblyman Pete Chacon's office; the S. Cal Operating Engineers' Joint Apprenticeship Committee; Cement Local 744; S.D. County Veterans' Service Dept.; Chicano Federation; Community College Districts; Engineering and Grading Contractors' Assn.;

V.A.; Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Coordinators, and Calif Div. of Apprenticeship Standards.

With his degree in business management, Diaz will again enter the field of helping those who are economically or culturally disadvantaged.

He will probably go into one of the federal help programs as an executive.

Why the determination to get into a field of helping others? "My father always told me not to be afraid to help others because all of us got help and advice from others."
